

Queen City of the Adriatic, Often in Peril, But Practically Unscathed by War

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF VENICE, THE CITY OF THE DOGES, TAKEN FROM AN AIRPLANE. THE BEAUTIFUL CITY WITH ITS PRICELESS ART TREASURES HAS BEEN SEVERAL TIMES BOMBED BY AUSTRIAN AIR RAIDERS, BUT ALTHOUGH SOME CASUALTIES RESULTED LITTLE MATERIAL DAMAGE WAS DONE. AT THE MOST THREATENING PHASE OF THE AUSTRIAN OFFENSIVE THE CITY WAS ORDERED TO BE EVACUATED, BUT WITH THE SIGNING OF THE ARMISTICE THE DANGER VANISHED.
